IBM To Aid Scheduling

Saint Leo College will receive a new IBM Model 1130 computer in April to assist in the constantly growing problem of processing the thousands of items of information kept on student and college activities.

Principal feature of the new computer will be a changeable disk storage unit capable of storing 512,000 words, supplemented by a "core storage" of an additional 8,000 words.

The vast amount of data is available on individual print-out upon request to the computer. In terms of maximum output, the machine will be able to print 60 recorded courses for up to 4.000 indinidual students.

The Model 1130 computer receives its instructions in a "program language" call FORTRAN (for Formula Translation). This language was originally devised for enginnering and scientific programming, but it now has been adapted for use in business and other record-keeping operations.

Dennis Seibert, manager of the College's Computer Center, says that the new machine will provide sufficient flexibility and efficiency "to enable personalized individual records."

Seibert said that the computer will store and retrieve information about alumni records, records of contributions to the College, finance and accounting data, student fee billing, students records. course scheduling, registrar's records and reports, and records of students' grades.

The computer also will store coordinative information about courses offered in the College catalogue.

Saint Leo College's Computer Center is under the supervision of Comptroller A. James Christiansen.

CONGRATULATIONS and Best Wishes to Mr and Mrs Walter Poplick upon the arrival of their third son and forth child last week. Mr Poplick is the Director of Security on campus.

Phi Theta Chi posted their first victory in the 1968 fraternity basketball season..

The "Big Red" under the leadership of coach Joe Ciliano out battled Alpha Sigma Chi by a slim 3 point margin. Phi Theta Chi lead at half time by 8 points, but in the second half a fired up Alpha Sigma Chi team came within 2 points of tieing the contest with 4 minutes remaining.

Throughout the whole second half Phi Theta Chi was in serious foul trouble with about 8 minutes remaining John McCarthy fouled out and Pete Zongo replaced him. Pete really came through in the clutch along with Bob Sully and Dan Cohill who did an excellent job on the boards.

Bob Sully collected 26 points in his supreme effort for the "Big Red." The team played will on the whole according to Ciliano. Phi Theta Chi would like to congradulate Alpna Sigma Chi, on a hard, clean game.

Phi Theta Chi also had its first hay ride of the new year, the past weekend the hay ride was a great success, everyone had an enjoyable time. Thomas Talty became a living legend in his own time the past weekend, a memorable experince never to be forgotton, congradulations Tom.

CAMPUS CURRENTS — by Larry McGowan

Recently, I was reading an article in Reader's Digest, titled, "What Cigarette Commercials Don't Show," by Hugh J. Mooney. It showed the reality of cancer country from one who has been there. I thought it was quite an alarming article and I felt all students who smoke should have the benefit of knowing exactly what cancer can and has done to persons afflicted with this dread disease.

Instead of boring you with facts and scientific back-up statements, I will just relate to you some excerpts from the article.

"It was suppertime, and the patients were eating... These men stood by their beds and carefully poured a thin pink liquid into small glass tubes... The fluid drained down out of the tubes through a thin clear plastic hose which disappeared into one nostril.

"They had to eat this way because throat, mouth, tongue, and esophagus had been cut away in surgery. I could actually see the back wall of their gullets.

"Many of them were waiting for plastic surgery to reconstruct their faces and necks... For this ..extra pieces of flesh were grown... One patient had flesh growing out of the side of his neck in a tubular U, like the handle on a suitcase. Another man had one growing from between his shoulder blades over his right shoulder to a spot in his throat just below the chin. It must have been 18 inches long."

These are excerpts from a ward in which throat cancer patients are treated. Truly they are grotesque facts of life. Of course, not everyone will get cancer, and even if you smoke, chances are good you won't get it, but you can get it.

I wonder how many people would continue smoking if for a commercial they featured a patient with his throat, mouth, tongue, etc., cut out, or chose a man growing a flesh pedicle for surgery; better yet, the addict who was smoking by holding the cigarette to the hole that led to his windpipe.

Nuff said.

Bench Returned

By David Preller

The Kappa Alpha Sigma Fraternity Pledges are now in their fifth week of pledging and still going strong. Since the beginning, these pledges have worked on many different projects in their first week, they gathered in San Antonio Park and cleaned it of all the debree which had been strewed about. They have also payed a visit to the Pink House to retrieve a Sorority bench which had been borrowed from the campus. Last week, a new foundation for the Kappa Alpha Sigma Bench was laid by these these men.

Ground Hog Day

This past friday, February 2, was Ground Hog day. Just about everyone knows the folklore envolved with the ground hog, even Mrs. Klausch the manager of records and admissions office. Unfortunately for all of us who enjoy spring, Mrs. Klausch wasn't about to let this little devil take-off without his pre-registration form. Don't worry if the little fellow doesn't appear again before February 23, he will probably have to pay a late registration fee. Of course, this won't guarantee that the little scoundrel will get all the courses that he desires. If he has conflicts Mrs. Klausch will encourage him to drop and add for only ten dollars a course, even if it is her fault. Of course the latter is very unlikely. It is a shame that there are some students who complain about this process. Remember people, we have Mrs. Klausch to thank for spring this year.

We are happy to announce that pledging has ended for Sigma Beta fraternity this year. All of us would like to extend congratulations to our new brothers. We are confident that they will help us achieve a better position for both ourselves and Saint Leo College. From the Brothers of Sigma Beta.

the Monarch Poll

By David Erickson

The subject of this weeks poll is there adequate fire protection for the Saint Leo College campus.

I suppose this is rather a mute point, after the quick action shown by the Dade City Volenteer Fire Department last week.

A large majority, 83%, said they felt the apparatus available was adequate, in view of the fact that, although the Fire House is more than five miles away; This distance can'be covered in less than four minutes.

10% said there should be a substation in the vicinity of the campus, preferably in San Antonio.

7% said they were unaware of the availability of fire equipment, but thought that whatever facilities were in existance at the present time must be adequate.

Kappa Theta B-Ball

Sunday, February the 11th, Kappa Theta's basketball flyweights take the floor against the brothers of Sigma Beta. Being the youngest of fraternities on campus, the brothers of K Θ are only eight strong, two of which are not able to play due to injuries. Consequently, it could be a gloomy night for the K Θ quintet. The unfortunate thing about it all is that most of Kappa Theta's talent will be in the cheering section since the new brothers will not be allowed to play. Although the Brothers of Kappa Theta realize their handicaps, the students can expect an all out effort both by K Θ's starting five and all the new brothers.

Kappa Theta Pledging Over

The Alpha Pledge Class of Kappa Theta Fraternity formally ended their pledge period on Saturday, Feb. 3. Congratulations go to the following new brothers: Pete Biscardi, Ron Chmura, Bob Cramer, George Dirscherl, Tom Focaxio, Bill Kruppenbacher, Brian McGrath, Vin Mele, Bill Parks, John Romano. Rich Salomi, Jim Savastano, John Smeretsky, and Marty White.

Monarch's Split This Week

By Al Marsico

The Monarch courtmen split this week, dumping Florida Tech 90-62 on Saturday and bowing to Florida Southern in a scrappy encounter by a 75-72 margin.

Larry Moore and Rich Wallace spearheaded the drive against Tech with with 25 and 21 points respectively in the game at Melbourne.

In Wednesday's contest Southern led by only one point at half time, 37-36 and didn't insure victory until Fred Lewis sunk two foul shots with only ten seconds left in the game. Thus, the Mocs (now 12-6 registered their second triumph of the season over coach Fagan's squad.

Wallace contributed 25 and Dave Lewis was second high man for Leo's with 17 tallies.

The Monarchs, now 8-3 return home on February 16 to take on Florida A & M with the homecoming game against Belmont-Abbey of North Carolina Following on the 17th.

AAUP at Saint Leo

Saint Leo College established a local chapter of the American Association of University Professors at the campus last week.

First officers elected for the chapter are Dr. David B. Cohen, president; Dr. Joyce Gamewell, secretary-treasurer; and Sister Mary Grace and Joseph Geiger, members of the executive board.

ON SPORTS

Tom Trueison

Jerry Quarry finally came through with an impressive fight last Saturday, and moved within a step of the world heavyweight boxing championship, when he TKOed Thad Spencer in the last round of the semifinal match of the WBA elimination tournament.

In his win over Floyd "Rabbit" Patterson in the quarterfinals, Ouarry was lazy and awkward and seemed to lack the raw desire of a great fighter. But against Spencer, Jerry displayed the poise, confidence and the hard hitting punches necessary for a heavyweight chanpion.

Ouarry now meets Jimmy Ellis, the other finalist and former sparring partner of Cassius Clay. In the ring, Ellis resembles Clay with his quick hands and dancing feet. But unlike Clay, Jimmy's quick hands lack power and zing, and when he fights Ouarry, Ellis will need a powerful punch because Quarry's strongest asset as a fighter, is his ability to take a punch.

So after waiting almost a year for someone to fill their vacant crown, the WBA has their man in either Ouarry or Ellis. As of now, the site and date for this fight haven't been determined, but chances are that it will take place in the Astrodome, sometime in late spring or early summer.

After this fight, the boxing fans will once again be able to hear those famous words of the ring announcer when he says, "And in this corner, the heavyweight champion of the world , ___?___ .
